

Research on Innovative Volunteer Service in Grass-roots Governance

Kang Dong^{1, a}, Lei Xiao^{1, b, *}, Junzhu Xu^{2, c}, Yu Zeng^{1, d}

¹School of fine arts, Sichuan, University of Science & Engineering, Zigong, 643000, China

²Youth corps committee, Sichuan, University of Science & Engineering, Zigong, 643000, China

^a508772655@qq.com, ^b5733000@qq.com, ^c3170873584@qq.com, ^d657609688@qq.com

Abstract

College youth volunteer service is the work innovation under the new historical conditions, is an important part of social public welfare. Now college students volunteer service in social public welfare, social assistance, plays a more and more important role in environmental protection, has become a important way of college students actively participate in social management at the grass-roots level, to promote college students to achieve all-round development important carrier and young students the important way of cultivating and practice the socialist core values. The third plenary session of the 18 clearly put forward "promoting the modernization of national governance system and governance capacity" of the strategic task that requires balance urban and rural community construction, to promote the masses in the urban and rural community governance in accordance with the law, self-management, self-service, self education, self supervision, in order to promote the community governance in China pointed out the direction and requirements are put forward. At present, college students volunteer service is an important force in community grass-roots governance, especially plays an important role in community cultural governance. In the course of one year, the research group organized college students to serve as volunteers, constantly thinking and reforming in the process of community governance at the grassroots level, and innovating a new plan to help grassroots governance with volunteer service.

Keywords

Grassroots governance; Volunteer service; Innovation.

1. Innovate New Ideas of Volunteer Service

First of all, in addition to serving the society, volunteer service should also strengthen the education function in the process of volunteer service. College students, as an important object of college training, should constantly cultivate their social responsibility and civic awareness in volunteer service, and guide them to take the initiative to participate in community grass-roots governance.

Second, colleges and universities should clarify the purpose and significance of college students' volunteer service. Today's colleges and universities to carry out a large number of college students volunteer service activities, and many college students to participate in volunteer service only stay on the level of participation, colleges and universities should attach importance to cultivate college students volunteer spirit, make students really understand the volunteer spirit, let the students in the volunteer service exercise themselves, improve themselves, The professional skill that lets oneself offers professional voluntary service efficiency for basic level management.

Third, colleges and universities should cultivate the service concept of college students in volunteer service. College students participating in volunteer service is not only to exercise their ability, but also to use their professional skills to provide public service in volunteer service.

2. We Will Establish A New Mechanism and System to Enable Voluntary Services to Contribute to Community-level Governance

One is to build a new platform. The relevant functional departments of the government will take the lead, cooperate with universities and voluntary service agencies to build a platform and carry out special services for grass-roots governance. This approach can be sufficiently resolved. Second, strengthen cooperation mechanisms. Voluntary service agencies have professional volunteer service experience, and college student volunteers have diversified professional backgrounds. Through mutual communication and cooperation, the effectiveness of grass-roots governance can be achieved more effectively.

Third, we will strengthen professional training. In the past, volunteer service was a very simple public welfare activity, but now volunteer service has become an indispensable part of society. Through regular thematic training, daily summary and sharing as well as the introduction of "in" and "go out" mode, the service skills and service concepts of volunteers are cultivated.

3. We Will Foster Community-level Social Organizations

At present, the general model of grass-roots governance is to cultivate grass-roots social organizations to participate in grass-roots affairs. To this end, can introduce the mountain stone, in the voluntary service institutions to establish college students voluntary service social practice base, play the professional advantages of college volunteers, in the community to recruit and cultivate all kinds of interest groups, such as: the elderly painting group, children's painting group, legal publicity group, music interest group. Attract college volunteers with professional characteristics, guide grass-roots residents to join interest groups, cultivate interest groups into grass-roots social organizations within a certain period of time, strengthen civic awareness, guide community residents to actively participate in community affairs, participate in community management, and help grass-roots governance.

4. We Will Standardize Community-level Governance Projects and Develop New Forms of Community-level Governance

The form, content and method of volunteer service to help grass-roots governance should be determined by combining the professional skills of volunteers with the actual needs and situations of grass-roots governance. On the one hand according to undergraduate oneself professional and skill of different, combine the actual need of grass-roots masses, arrange the volunteer service project such as village official, support education, support agriculture, support medicine, make undergraduate's professional and skill get full play in grass-roots management. , on the other hand, also, combined with the characteristics and the actual state of the masses at the grass-roots level, culture, science and technology and demand for legal aid services, psychological services, old and the sick at home services such as volunteer services, make the goal of grassroots governance and voluntary service activities together, give full play to the professional advantages of volunteers to provide needed all kinds of services to the grassroots, We will improve the effectiveness of voluntary services in promoting community-level governance.

5. Cultivate High-quality Elite Volunteer Teams

In view of the professional and skilled training for the specific work of the volunteers, the training concept and training methods are constantly innovated. On the one hand, using the form of the combination of "invite in" and "go out", through special training, experience exchange, visit and research, field visits and other forms of different levels of targeted concept knowledge, service skills, service literacy, laws and regulations training. The training process should pay attention to the mode of combining theory with practice, so that the professional skills of volunteers are combined with the actual needs of grassroots governance. On the other hand, through volunteer service projects, we continue to explore new measures and new paths for grassroots governance, so that volunteer service work and grassroots governance can be more closely combined, so that they can promote each other and make common progress.

6. We Will Build A Cultural Brand of Voluntary Governance Services at the Grassroots Level

First, strengthen the spirit of volunteer service. By building the team image and brand of volunteer service, the grass-roots people can fully realize the value and significance of volunteer service, so as to promote the grass-roots people to take the initiative to participate in grass-roots governance. Second, explore new brand forms and expand the content of volunteer services. Various grassroots governance brand activities, such as caring for left-behind children, caring for empty nesters, public flea markets, environmental protection and civilized ecology, are carried out to inject new vitality into the current grassroots governance work and give more cultural connotations to volunteer services. Third, strengthen the professional construction of volunteer services, establish professional grassroots governance volunteer service teams in colleges and universities, and carry out special grassroots governance volunteer service projects.

7. Conclusion

Under the new situation, it is necessary to continuously improve and innovate the new mechanism of volunteer service exchange and cooperation, make volunteers actively participate in social management innovation and social public service, and effectively promote the case implementation of the modernization of national governance system and governance capacity. Let college students volunteer as an important force to help grassroots governance, so that volunteer services can be orderly and long-term.

Acknowledgments

This paper is one of the results of the philosophy and social science planning project of Zigong Social Science Association 2020 "Research on Innovating College Students' Volunteer Service Mechanism and Helping Grassroots Governance with Discipline Advantage" (2020Y18).

References

- [1] Yang Xiaoyun, On the construction of community voluntary service system from the perspective of governance, Journal of Changchun University of Science and Technology, 2016. 29(06), P72-75.
- [2] Yuemin Zheng, Jiawei Cao, Voluntary services effectively boost the investigation of community governance at the grassroots level, Industry and Technology Forum, 2018. 17(16). P224-225.
- [3] BaoYi, Huang Yuan, Study on College Students' Volunteer Service to Help Rural Revitalization Construction, Journal of Hubei Open Vocational College, 2019, p70-78.